

Alison Hunter

Alison is a highly experienced, Brussels-based policy consultant and adviser. She is joint owner and director of a consultancy business – Economic and Public Policy Consultancy - specialising in economic and public policy advice and support to public sector (EU institutions, national, regional / local levels). Her career history spans private and public sector settings including EU policy, consultancy, economic development and academia. She is a specialist in EU Regional Policy (including Cohesion Policy and Regional Innovation / Smart Specialisation) and EU Research & Innovation Policy (including economic growth and EU Industrial Policy), and a recognised expert in facilitating trans-national and interregional collaboration; research and policy analysis; event moderation and reporting; and working with a wide range of EU institutional and regional stakeholders.

Alison is a Senior Adviser to Brussels-based think-tank European Policy Centre in Cohesion Policy, Regional Innovation and Industrial Growth.