

Jonas Teusch, PhD

Jonas Teusch is the Thematic Lead for Environmental Economics at the European Commission's Directorate-General for Taxation and Customs, Unit C5, where he deals with economics aspects of CBAM and environmental taxation. Before joining the European Commission in 2024, Jonas worked for seven years at the OECD, specialising in carbon pricing, energy taxation and fossil fuel subsidy reform. He holds a Ph. D. in Economics from Université catholique de Louvain & Université de Liège, Belgium, and a Master's degree in Political Science from McGill University, Canada. Jonas has published in academic and policy journals, including Energy Policy and the Review of Industrial Organization.